

Instructor Biography

Iliia LIOUTOV

Course: ACI-ICAO Airport User Charges

Iliia Lioutov has been working for the Economics and Statistics Department of ACI World since early 2012. His educational background is Economics Degree from Concordia University with a specialization in International Trade and Finance. In his current position – Manager, Economic Policy – Iliia acquired in-depth expertise in airport charges, aeronautical as well as non-aeronautical revenue streams; airport key performance indicators, more specifically with regard to the economic and financial performance of airports; and, airport traffic statistics.

Iliia contributed to the tremendous advancement of the ACI Airport Economics Report (AER) as one of the key products developed by ACI World. Iliia's responsibilities include producing over 100 regional key performance indicators per year; carrying out historical analyses of airport economic performance; and, developing Policy Briefs and other publications, including evidence-base analyses and related economic policy recommendations for law-makers, regulators, and ICAO.